

WHAT IS IT? A Day of fun, educational, hands-on learning activities at Cedar Bay for elementary school students from Sioux Lookout

WHEN IS IT? May, 2016

WHY IS IT? To inspire children to appreciate and take care of water and related systems through a day of educational and fun activities

WHAT WILL HAPPEN

- Event will be from 9:30 am to 2:00 pm at Cedar Bay camp (lakeshore)
- 8 interactive activity centres for the children to rotate through - all around Cedar Bay camp
- The centres explore the concepts of water conservation, water science, water protection and water technology
- Each centre is developed and hosted by a local educator or environmental mentor – all volunteers for the event
- The Sioux Lookout Children's Water Festival requires the participation of many volunteers and partners

How Can you Help?

Become a partner and contribute resources to the event
Offer to develop and host a learning activity centre
Volunteer for the day to chaperone and guide participants
Help with set up, take down and clean up
Prepare and serve food for lunch
Provide supplies and materials needed
Help promote and communicate the event and write about it for a variety of audiences
Join the Steering Committee
